The 37th Annual Illinois High School Theatre Festival

Theatre:

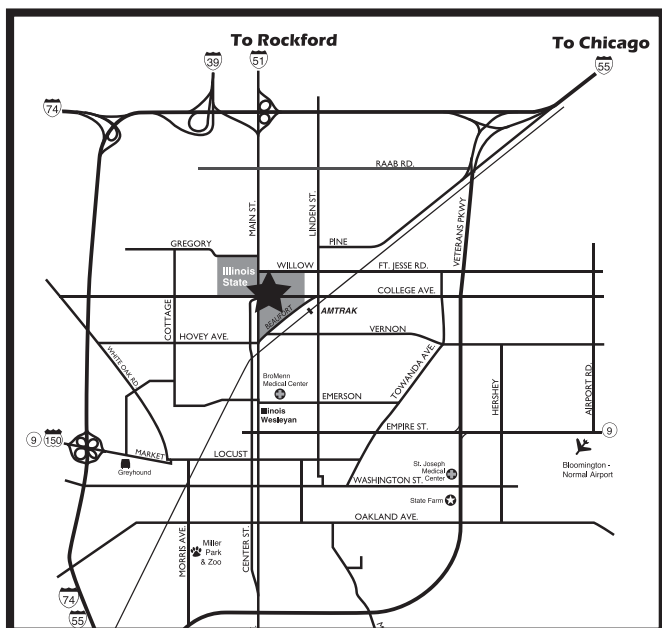

The background of the poster features two wireframe heads of human faces, rendered in a light green color. The heads are positioned symmetrically, facing each other with their mouths open as if in conversation. The wireframe mesh is composed of a grid of lines that define the contours of the faces, including the ears, noses, and lips. The overall effect is a stylized, digital representation of human connection.
